Saturday

STAT

AMERICAN SCENE

FLORIDA

Wearing Bill of Rights, she is read her rights

NORTH PALM BEACH — Police arrested bare-bottomed Tony Anne Wyner yesterday for leading a demonstration of 150 beachgoers angry about a new Florida law that prohibits skimpy G-string and thong swimsuits.

Wyner, clad only in a large paper copy of the Bill of Rights that covered her breasts and genitals, and tiny red, blue and silver stars on her buttocks, was charged with disorderly conduct.

If convicted, she faces up to 60 days in jail and a $500 fine.

The new law specifically prohibits a sunbather from exposing his or her buttocks or genitals and also prohibits women from wearing bikini tops that expose breasts below the nipple.

DISTRICT OF COLOMBIA

Congressman helps fatten farm bill with turkey center

WASHINGTON — With a tough campaign looming back home, Rep. Arlan Stangeland didn't miss a chance to talk turkey in Washington.

As the House Agriculture Comm ut its final touches on a new program.

By Dale Ka
Gannett News S

DENVE
those makir
Iowa, this Frances, wa
crash of Ur
His son
among 184
Sioux Gat
More t
members
Chamber
brance.
Delore
among th her home
the day
"I do
dead, y beautifu
airport
For s 10 crash
lost job
even w avoid runwa
For
oppo
G